

Acoustical Society of America Travel Award Opportunity

An initiative of the Psychological and Physiological Acoustics Technical Committee

171st Meeting, Salt Lake City, Utah, 23-27 May 2016

The Psychological and Physiological (P&P) Acoustics Technical Committee of the Acoustical Society of America (ASA) will fund 6 students or post-docs to attend and present invited talks at the ASA's spring 2016 meeting in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Travel awards will be granted to 3 individuals with research related to clinical topics and 3 individuals relating to topics in physiological research relevant to Psychological and Physiological Acoustics. Precedence will be given to first time attendees to an Acoustical Society meeting. Membership in the Acoustical Society of America is not required.

Awardees will be assigned to present an invited talk in a special session titled "Acoustics Outreach to Budding Scientists: Planting Seeds for Future Clinical and Physiological Collaborations" (award recipients must present the talks), $750 for travel expenses, and will be matched with P&P mentors at the meeting.

A goal of this award is to promote translational research and expose clinical and physiology researchers to the Acoustical Society, whose mentors may not normally attend ASA meetings.

Applications must include:

- A cover letter – limit one page
- An abstract for a podium presentation – limit of 200 words (applicants must be the first author and make the presentation)
- A letter of recommendation
- A current CV

Cover letter should include a statement of interest in interdisciplinary research, how your research is relevant to psychological and physiological acoustics, a background on your education and area of study, and a statement of financial need for attending an ASA meeting. Letter of recommendation may come from a mentor or colleague.

Deadline for the travel award is Friday, December 18, 2015. Please email applications to Anna C. Diedesch: anna.c.diedesch@vanderbilt.edu

Applicants will be informed of the decisions the second week of January 2016