

TWO POSTDOCTORAL POSITIONS IN SPEECH-LANGUAGE-HEARING SCIENCE UNIVERSITY OF MEMPHIS

The University of Memphis School of Communication Sciences and Disorders (SCSD) (www.memphis.edu/csd/) invites applicants for two postdoctoral positions with immediate start date.

The successful candidate will work in a highly interdisciplinary team including Speech-Language-Hearing Scientists, Clinicians, and Cognitive Psychologists to spearhead collaborative research with one of the School's primary faculty members. Training opportunities include experimental techniques in EEG/ERPs, eye-tracking, psychoacoustics, computational modeling, acoustic and speech/voice signal analysis, linguistic analysis, and other psychophysiological approaches. Opportunities also include state-of-the-art ethological observational methods to investigate the origin and development of human communication and interaction.

The School houses 11 labs covering a breadth of research on human communication and related disorders:

Auditory Cognitive Neuroscience Laboratory (PI: Gavin Bidelman; www.memphis.edu/acnl/)

Auditory Processing Disorders Laboratory (PI: Deborah Moncrieff)

Cochlear Implant Research Laboratory (PI: Sarah Warren)

Hearing Aid Research Laboratory (PI: Jani Johnson; <http://harlmemphis.org/>)

Speech Perception Assessment Laboratory (PI: Lisa Lucks Mendel; www.memphis.edu/spal/index.php)

Social Interaction Laboratory (PI: Eugene Buder)

Adult Neurogenic Communication Disorders Lab (PI: Lynda Feenaughty; www.memphis.edu/anecd/)

SCSD is housed in the Community Health Building on the Park Avenue Campus of the University of Memphis. The new facility, opened in 2015, features state-of-the-art teaching, research, and clinical facilities. In addition to dedicated laboratory space, the School houses a 1.5 story IAC anechoic chamber with a 36-speaker array as well as a fully operational speech/hearing clinic (Memphis Speech and Hearing Center). It also houses advanced facilities for multichannel recording and ethological analysis of human interaction from infancy through adulthood.

The candidate will be expected to contribute to all stages of research in the lab of their choosing including designing research and methodological approaches, either experimental or observational, supervising students in data collection, analyzing data, and disseminating results. Teaching opportunities are negotiable depending on the candidate's interests.

Candidates should have a PhD in speech/hearing science, cognitive neuroscience, psychology, or a related field. Salary is commensurate with the NIH pay schedule. The appointment(s) are subject to final budget approval and are one-year appointments.
