

Visiting Clinical Assistant Professor

<https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/32809>

Posting Details

Position Details

Title	Visiting Clinical Assistant Professor
Appointment Status	Non-Tenure Track
Department	IU Bloomington Speech & Hearing Sciences
Location	Bloomington
Position Summary	The Department of Speech, Language and Hearing Sciences at Indiana University invites applications for a Visiting Clinical Assistant Professor position for the upcoming academic year (a one-year appointment). This 12-month, full-time (non-tenure track) appointment is ideal for a clinician-educator looking to gain experience within a top-tier audiology program. The responsibilities for this position include: (1) clinical supervision of AuD students and provision of audiological services; (2) classroom teaching of clinical courses that may include teaching or team-teaching in an area of expertise; and (3) service to the department, university and professional communities. Indiana University is a highly regarded public research university. The undergraduate and graduate programs of the Department of Speech, Language and Hearing Sciences are ranked among the top in the nation. The Bloomington campus, home to approximately 42,000 students, is a one-hour drive south of Indianapolis. Our department is housed in a state-of-the-art facility, the Regional Academic Health Center, with the Speech-Language and Hearing Clinics, numerous research laboratories, and is connected to the Bloomington hospital. The IU Hearing Clinic within the department provides a robust variety of clinical services to the Bloomington community, including electrophysiology, diagnostic assessment of pediatric and adult patients, evaluation and programming of implantable devices, and hearing aid fitting and verification. The department also has a preschool program aimed at supporting language development in preschool-aged children, including those who are typically developing, learning English as a second language, or experiencing communication delays. The proximity to the hospital and collocation with other units in the building (nursing, social work, and medical sciences) fosters collaborations among faculty, provides interprofessional education for students, and facilitates patient-oriented research. The departmental climate is one of collaboration both within and across the SLHS disciplines, as many faculty co-teach courses and collaborate on research and community outreach. Bloomington is a collegial community with a vibrant arts and cultural scene, varied dining options, and scenic outdoor spaces. Salary is competitive and commensurate with level of experience and qualifications.
Basic Qualifications	Basic Qualifications Required: An AuD or PhD in audiology, ASHA certification (CCC-A), and Indiana state licensure in audiology by the projected date of employment (8/1/2026). Preferred: Clinical experience with pediatric patients and prior student supervision experience.
Department Contact for Questions	Search Committee Chair Name: Gavin Bidelman, PhD Email: gbidel@iu.edu Department of Speech, Language and Hearing Sciences Indiana University 2631 East Discovery Parkway Bloomington, IN 47408
Additional Qualifications	Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit their application materials (cover letter, curriculum vitae/resume, statement on philosophy of clinical education including teaching interests, and names and contact information for three recommendation letter writers) at: https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/XXXXXX.
Salary and Rank	$70,000-85,000 https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/32809
Special Instructions	For best consideration, please apply by May 1, 2026. Expected start date is August 1, 2026.

For Best Consideration Date	05/01/2026
Expected Start Date	08/01/2026
Posting Number	IU-101546-2026

Supplemental Questions

Required fields are indicated with an asterisk (*).

Applicant Documents

Required Documents

1. Curriculum Vitae
2. Letter of Application
3. Statement of Teaching Philosophy
4. List Of References

Optional Documents